

Soprano Eleanor Oldfield is a recent graduate from the Guildhall School of Music and Drama with a BMus (Hons), MMus and MPerf (Dist.) under the tutelage of John Evans and Marcus Van den Akker. She was supported by the Goldsmith's Company throughout her time at the Guildhall. Since graduating, Eleanor has been on two UK tours with the Merry Opera Company: Mikado in autumn 2022 and Messiah in spring 2023. She is also active as a recitalist, performing in multiple concerts across the country, including returning to her home county of Norfolk to perform as a soloist with North Norfolk Chorale and the Norfolk Sinfonia, performing the role of 'Maria' in a concert version of West Side Story with Kidderminster Choral Society, and most recently with newly found Trio di Seta at the Cuckfield Music Festival 2023. She is very excited to be performing the title role in Noah Max's A Child in Striped Pyjamas at the Brundibár Arts Festival in January. Upcoming engagements also include performing the role of 'First Lady' in Wild Arts Production of The Magic Flute as one of their Young Artists for the Summer of 2024.
